How To Align Our Life

- Each of us has a choice to make.
- We must follow those we know who reflect what God has said.
- Paul's only purpose was to make Christ known.
- We live in an age of pseudo relationships.
- What's true and good is not found by looking only at experts but by those who have grown through experience, sharing what they know.
- We have lost a sense of true north since we rely on whatever the current culture decides.

The Scriptures

- The Scriptures bear God's authority and are the source from which we should be guided.
- God is able to communicate to finite and flawed humans through the limits of culture, understanding, and language.
- To trust in the Bible, is to believe and trust in God's ability to accommodate human understanding.
- The Scriptures have the power to align our lives to the way they were meant to be.

Conclusion

- Of all things on earth, God's Word will last forever.
- Nothing else on earth is able to give us the wisdom that the Word of God can give.
- We should desire and choose to actually do good works.
- Regardless, if the world is in a disoriented, devolving state, there is a true north, and you can follow it.
